

Crossings Film Series: Matthew Becker

Matthew Becker first came across Crossings when he met Professor Bob Bertram during his graduate studies. Bob invited him to an event in Chicago and he has been involved in the community ever since.

Matthew does a great job of describing the six-step Crossings Method and its use in examining Scripture through the lens of law and gospel.

He feels Crossings does the important work of bringing a variety of people together in experiential ways that are faithful to the scriptures. In particular, Matthew appreciates the opportunity to talk and pray with others at the international conferences.
